A Poetry Celebration

Tim Lilburn has written eleven books of poetry, as well as a three-volume essay collection on eros, politics, and the environment. He is a two-time nominee and successful winner of the Governor General's Award; he was made a Fellow of the Royal Society of Canada in 2014, and in 2017 became the first Canadian to be awarded the European Medal of Poetry and Art, the Homer Prize. Lilburn taught philosophy and writing for many years at the Benedictine St. Peter's College in his home province of Saskatchewan, and now teaches at the University of Victoria.

Tim Lilburn
and
Susan McCaslin

Susan McCaslin has published fifteen volumes of poetry. Her most recent volume is a multi-genre work of creative non-fiction, written in collaboration with J.S. Porter, Superabundantly Alive: Thomas Merton's Dance with the Feminine (Wood Lake, 2018). Susan resides in Fort Langley, British Columbia where she initiated the Han Shan Poetry Project as part of a successful campaign to protect an endangered rainforest along the Fraser River. She taught English and Creative Writing at Douglas College in New Westminster for 23 years.
